WAYNE WHEELER ON THE SALOON

Says Deposits Have Increased in all Dry Territory.

TAXES HAVE NOT GONE UP

Addresses Audience in Trinity Baptist Church Last Night.

Gives Numerous Instances of Increase of Capital in Dry Cities and Counties of Ohio—Says Saloon Traffic
Cannot be Regulated.

Wayne Wheeler, leader of the Anti-Saloon forces of the country, was in Marion last night and spoke from the pulpit of the Trinity Baptist church. He made a stirring address discussing all phases of the liquor problem.

One of the features of his address was to show how selling liquor and the open saloon injures all legitimate business. But the matter of cutting out the saloon has been on trial for three years and we have practical results to prove our theories.

For instance, in East Liverpool the individual deposits in the banks have increased $600,000.

In Washington county there are $20,000,000 more deposits in the banks than there were three years ago.

In Logan county the deposits are 10 to 15 per cent. greater than they were and the increase in the building and loan companies deposits is $250,000.

Middleport has doubled her deposits in her banks since that county voted out the saloons.

Scioto county people have increased their deposits 37 per cent.

Wood county people have increased their deposits 15 per cent.

The people of Wyandot have increased their deposits by more than $200,000.

Those of Ashland show an increase of deposits in the banks of $150,000.

One hundred and forty-six of the business men of Athens have gone on record in a statement that the business of their city has been improved by excluding the saloons.

Mr. Wheeler argued that saloons reduce the number of taxpayers by decreasing the earning power of men; that the liquor business pays little taxes while it takes large revenues from the people; that it never has and it never will repay one-tenth the damage it does to society.

He says they have put in flower stores in many cities especially Springfield and now sell roses for people to wear in their buttonholes and thereby transpire the bloom from the noses of inebriates to roses on their garments.

It was argued that no dry county has increased its tax rate although taxed by the Smith one per cent. law which is all right. But Cincinnati which is as wet as whiskey and beer can make it and thoroughly degraded, debased and corrupt beyond description has declared she cannot get along with such limitations although she has 1,800 saloons to pay her taxes and more than a thousand bootlegging joints.

But, said the speaker, you will soon have men come among you and tell you that they are about to make the saloons respectable, they will establish nice Sunday school and love-feast institutions. Don't be deceived by the wiles of the serpent. If the saloons come back to Marion county they will take it to be a new lease of power and they will be more open, lawless, degrading, blatant and destructive of good economy and good morals than they have been heretofore. Wheeler said if the liquor sellers were to make their business respectable, if they should refuse to sell to drunkards and minors and after hours and on Sunday and to support gambling and wine rooms and bawdy houses and all the immoral features of their establishment, the traffic would go bankrupt in twenty-four hours. So the idea of a good saloon is ridiculous.

The improvement of the condition of laboring men where the saloons have been removed has been demonstrated in Portsmouth where unemployed workmen have increased their wages 9 to 10 per cent. and skilled workmen have gone up 12 to 15 per cent.

John Lennon, the great workingmen's brother and champion, is going up and down the land preaching and exhorting the men to keep away from the saloon, to vote it out and keep it out. He says drink is pushing more children into the factories than all other causes combined.

But the bootleggers say the law is violated. And they are the violators. They desire to get credit for their own crimes. But this is nothing new. These men violated every regulatory law ever made, hourly, daily, yearly and by the decade.

Now, so long as the liquor traffic is wrong and does harm, the only thing to do with it is to prohibit it. It is of the devil and him alone and it will never recognize any obligation to be honest, decent or reputable. The fight is one and it must be made for the benefit of our boys and girls whom it drags down to wretchedness and want and misery to the bitter end.

Col. Tom Gilmore tried his hand on some letters urging his model license law but his ideas were at war with the supreme court's decisions and were unscientific and absurd. He was knocked out because he used in support of his measure the very language of the court's inhibition. He pretended to uphold the proposition which the highest tribunal of our country had decided against him.

Many other points were touched and the people were admonished to work harder than ever, to arise in their might and smite this giant iniquity.

NEW MINISTERS

Yesterday was Rev. Keppel's first Sunday in Marion.

Rev. Guenther Preaches First Sermon at German Methodist.

Rev. H. C. Guenther occupied the pulpit in the German M. E. Church yesterday for the first time since he has taken up his duties in the German M. E. pastorate. Large audiences attended both the morning and evening services and revealed through their personal support their interest and appreciation felt for the new minister.

In the evening Rev. Guenther preached convincingly from the theme, "A True Conception of Christ." He said in brief:

"Christianity permits of and encourages thought. Other religions do not. They require the acceptance of the religious views of past generations without question. But Christianity calls our highest faculties into action. In Holy Writ we are told: 'Come let us reason together, not that our minds can fully grasp the mind of God; not that we can fully understand his ways, but the more we reason about Him, the more we love and honor Him, and the more we will enjoy our religion.'

"The question of the text did not come to the Jews exactly as it comes to us. To them it was a question of prophecy. To us it is a question concerning a person who was and yet is. What was he? What is he? God, Christ himself, and the deities declared him to be divine, and he must have been so, for his influence on earth the last 1900 years has not been that of a mere man, but that of God.

"Wherever the religion of Christ goes, all other religions disappear. When St. Paul thundered against idolatry in Mars Hill, the idols of Greece trembled, and ere long they were overthrown never to rise again. The same has been true of every other heathen country. Idolatry cannot stand before Christianity. Christianity will continue to win victory after victory till all nations recognize the supremacy of Christ.

"The religion of Jesus Christ takes evil out of men. Satan still possesses men to the degree in which they submit to him. But Jesus can make men free from the bondage of sin, he breaks the power of canceled sin, he sets the prisoner free.

"Jesus not only gives spiritual blessings. When he was on earth, he not only forgave sins, he also fed the hungry. And he does it today. Not that there is no poverty in Christian countries, but, generally speaking, Christianity promotes materially well-being. Compare the material well-being of Christian countries with the material well-being of non-Christian countries, and you will be convinced.

"Finally, Christianity gives hope when this world affords no more hope. When the Christian becomes infirm with old age, when he is laid out with disease, when the shadow of death comes over him, then Jesus whispers into his soul: 'Fear not, I am with thee.' In my father's house are many mansions. And then he takes him to those mansions and makes him joint heir with himself, and gives him eternal life. What think ye of Christ? Say it with Thomas: 'My Lord and my God.'

Line City Mission.

At the regular Sunday evening service held at Line City mission, Alfred Walker delivered an address on the subject of "Morality."

Mr. Walker based his address on the verses found in the second chapter of Titus. Virtue and temperance were the principal themes discussed by him. In speaking of the coming local option election, he said: "I believe that when the returns come in after the election, that the 'dry' will have a much larger majority even than they had three years ago."

He spoke of the evil which results from the sale of intoxicating liquors. "The grog-shops," he declared, "have turned honest men into thieves, Christians into drunkards and have sent hundreds to the electric chair and filled our insane institutions to overflowing. In case of sickness or death in your homes, which would you call upon, the saloon or the church? If I knew that on election day I would be the only man to vote 'dry,' I would vote 'dry' and know that I had shielded home, family and all earthly ties I hold dear. I would rather strike at the devil and miss him, than to sit still and do nothing to stop his progress."

COURT AUJOURNS OUT OF RESPECT FOR HARL

Washington, Oct. 16.—With the late Senator Justice Harlan's chair draped heavily in black, the United States supreme court met for a brief session at noon today. Chief Justice White formally announced the death of the aged jurist who for thirty-four years sat on the bench. Adjournment was immediately taken in respect to his memory and the court will have no decision day until next Monday.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon with the justices as honorary pallbearers. After a brief private service at the house, a public ceremony will be held in New York Avenue Presbyterian church. The burial in Rock Creek cemetery will be private.

MISS OF SEVENTEEN YEARS SELECTED AS PRIMA DONNA OF BIG PRODUCTION

Ins Claire, a seventeen-year-old Washington miss, has been selected by Henry B. Harris, the theatrical producer, to sing the title role in "The Quaker Girl," an English musical comedy that is to open in New York this month. Miss Claire's rise to fame has been rapid. She first attracted the attention of the managers two years ago, giving imitations of Harry Lauder. She has become a prima donna with less experience than is possessed by the average chorus girl.
